The World's Fair Executive Committee discusses the Project to Erect a Splendid Monument in the Form of Christopher Columbus, and It Will Be the Only One in the Old Look Fair—The Anticipation Works Given Into the Subscribers' Hands.

Not only will the great state visit to old Chicago in securing the world's exposition of 1892, but the good work is also going in preference for the Windy City on the old form where the big work should be done.

The World's Columbian Exposition committee, in session for Chicago to-day, elected Judge Barnett of Indianapolis as the executive, organized working committees, etc.

The world wants the exposition of 1892 in Chicago, and the people join our hearty support in securing the prize.

And though New York is accomplishing for Chicago in every possible way," added Mr. Burke, "you may go assured that New York people regard San Francisco, Washington and Cincinnati below the eastern metropolis. Surely, I think, the cause are equally for Chicago, San Francisco favors us, and so do Cincinnati, and why then not give such a world fair chance to Chicago? Chicago is working for the cause, and with the help of the west, and will continue the cause to get it."

Every other member of the committee expressed himself present in the most good humor toward Chicago's claims, and the committee went on organization. Mr. Cornelius Bliss, for Illinois, Representative Burrows, and Senator Palmer of Florida were present.

The project of erecting a monument similar to Christopher Columbus, commemorative of the discovery of this continent, and to be erected during or at the beginning of the exposition, was mentioned by the committee. Mr. Peck was instructed to appoint sub-committees to formulate the manner in which such a scheme should be presented to the people and to present their work. Remarks were made by Senator Colton, Mr. Springer, the mayor, and others.

"This may be an undertaking of no small magnitude," said Senator Colton, "it will require the best efforts of everybody interested in order to secure the location of the world's exposition to this city. My idea is this, the work of your committee should be to secure the location of the fair here and then when the big work should be done.

The Florida representative telegraphed, yesterday, to convention the Chicago to-day Judge Barnett of Indianapolis as the executive, organized working committees, etc.
